Pomona, NY – The Boulders never got a chance to complete a three-game sweep of the Wild Card leading Ottawa Titans on Thursday night, as the contest had to be canceled because of a technical malfunction with the Clover Stadium lights.

Per Frontier League rules, It will not be made up, since the teams don't meet again in the regular season.

New York (49-43) lost ground in the East Division title race, falling 1.5 games behind the first place

New Jersey Jackals, who scored a 7-2 win at home against the Brockton Rox, but saw its "magic number" to clinch a second straight playoff berth reduced to 4.

The Down East Bird Dawgs' game in Troy, NY, vs. the Tri-City ValleyCats was suspended because of heavy rain with the Dawgs leading the Cats 10-3 after 2 ½ innings.

That matchup will be resumed on Saturday as part of a doubleheader.

The Boulders begin their final road series of 2026 tomorrow (Friday) night) in Brockton, with first pitch for the opener of three against the Rox scheduled for 7:00pm EDT.
