

Please Allow me to Introduce Myself – a nod to the Rolling Stones

BY: Scott Walters, Rockland Post Contributor

If you've ever dreamed of planning a family vacation, a cruise, a Disney trip, or a getaway somewhere warm and memorable, I'd be honored to help you make it happen.

My name is Scott Walters, and I bring over 12 years of travel industry experience to every trip I plan. Over the years, I've built strong working relationships with many of the industry's most familiar names, including Disney, Royal Caribbean, Princess, and Cancun tourism partners. That experience has given me a deep understanding of what makes a trip run smoothly — and what can turn an ordinary vacation into something truly special.

Travel isn't just my profession. It's part of who I am. I'm a husband and father of three, so I understand firsthand how important it is to find trips that work for real families. That means balancing fun, comfort, value, and the kind of details that make travel easier for everyone involved.

Whether it's a multigenerational family cruise, a theme park adventure, or a simple beach escape, I know how to look at a trip through the eyes of a husband and parent, not just an agent.

I've traveled to five continents, taken more than 30 cruises, and visited Disney World over 30 times. Those experiences matter because they give me real-world insight, not just brochure knowledge. I know what to expect, what to avoid, and how to match the right destination with the right traveler.

One of the biggest advantages of working with me is that my services are free. Since I'm paid by my travel partners, my clients get expert guidance without added planning fees. That means you get help from someone who knows the industry, without paying extra for the privilege.

And whether your trip is simple or elaborate, I approach every request with the same care. No booking is too small, and no group is too large. From a quick weekend escape to a complex group vacation, I'm here to make the process easier, smoother, and a lot less stressful.

If you're ready to travel smarter, I'm ready to help.
