

Why Blakeman?

Whenever New Yorkers find themselves in a crisis, they tend to choose leaders that help them get through the crisis. In NYC, when things were bad, they elected mayors like Fiorella Laguardia, Ed Koch, Rudy Guiliani and Mike Bloomberg to help turn the city around. In NY state we had Nelson Rockefeller and George Pataki. However, whenever things start going well, we tend to go back to elect leaders who don't know how to lead, have bad ideas, and generally take the city or the state back to crisis levels which then requires a savior to come in and fix the problem. This election for governor is an inflection point as to whether the state will continue to spiral downward or turn around and become successful. It is also important for New York City as the governor can stop some of the radical ideas coming from the current mayor.

Kathy Hochul has done nothing, but rubber stamp the ideas of the Democrat Socialists of America (DSA) and Mayor Mamdani. As NYC looms into a fiscal crisis, people out of NYC will have to pay for this to be resolved. Years of Democratic rule by Andrew Cuomo and Kathy Hochul have driven upstate NY into a sea of despair and poverty. How have they done this? Well, we ban fracking in this state while other states have it. Closing Indian Point with no replacement has led to rising energy costs. In fact, Hochul and her corrupt cronies built a stadium for the Buffalo Bills which resembled the old Yankee Stadium with obstructed views. In a modern day of stadium architectural building, how could this happen? You want to drive business out of NY? Go ahead and tax millionaires and when that is tapped out, you tax the middle class. Make NY a sanctuary for lawbreakers so that ordinary citizens who don't have the personal protection of the police are always living in fear. And let's keep every illegal who has committed a crime in our state. Let's not prosecute crime unless it's politically correct. That is Hochul's and Laticia James' New York.

This needs to change and the change agent is Bruce Blakeman. He has done a great job in Nassau County, and he can transform NY state. Most importantly he can remove the Mayor of NY if he so desires when things get bad enough. And he also can make changes for upstate to allow business and industry to once again thrive there. It's not enough just to elect Bruce Blakeman. We also must elect Assemblymen and State Senators who are independent or republican enough to stand up to the radical socialists, the DSA in New York state. That is key. One party rule which is what NY has been experiencing for years leads to decay corruption and poverty. We need to give new ideas and new people a chance. What we are doing now is not working. We promote hatred and warfare amongst different groups in the state, and we have justice applied unequally. It's time for a change. Bruce Blakeman and his running mates are the only chance this state and the state's middle class must survive.
